

Course Outline

HLTAID003 Provide First Aid

Overview:

Anyone can be confronted with a medical emergency at any time; it is not predictable and may involve a friend or family member. This course has been designed to provide participants with the skills and knowledge to respond safely and effectively manage first aid situations until the handover to medical professionals is possible. Many employers require this competency as a minimum standard for employment or appointment into key positions such as supervisors and/or team leaders.

Training is completed through in class presentations, practical demonstrations, group discussions, scenarios and other interactive learning techniques to ensure that all participants gain an understanding of the first aid skills.

Target Audience

Anyone who wants to learn the skills and knowledge to respond safely and effectively manage first aid situations until the handover to medical professionals is possible.

Maximum Participants

12

Duration

1 Day face-to-face including class presentations, practical demonstrations, group discussions, scenarios and other interactive learning techniques to ensure that all participants gain an understanding of the first aid skills.

Pre-Requisites

None

Course Outcomes

On successful completion of this course, participants will be issued with a Statement of Attainment.

Site Delivery Requirements

- Suitable classroom

Effective Safety and Training Solutions